

THE BOURBON NEWS.

SEMI-WEEKLY.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1882.

NO. 77.

VOL. I.

STIVERS IS NOW IN jail.

BORN—To the wife of Harvey Hibler, a daughter.

Alice Oates, scored a great success as Bettina in La Mascotte.—[Boston Globe.

Don't forget the gayest, airiest and raciest of comic operas next Friday evening.

The other day when Stone read the News, he mounted his steed and went to North Middletown on the wing of the wind.

BRYAN'S photograph gallery at Mt. Sterling was destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss, $2,200; insurance, $1,000. The Episcopal church narrowly escaped being burned.

An axle of the tender on Capt. Henry Green's train broke seven miles from Maysville Friday, and dumped the baggage car over on its side. No other damage.

In her greatest haste to buzz down street, one of our society belles wore her dress wrong-side out the other day. Your little tow-headed, blue-eyed blonde girl of Troy admonished her of her mistake.

The agency for Messrs. Haper & Bro's celebrated cut paper patterns, has been given to Foster & Sanders, who have just received a large stock. Call and get a fashion sheet free.

E. B. EBD, a young man aged 18, attempted suicide, by shooting himself through the temple, at Lexington Friday. He was an over-worked employe in the Chesapeake & Ohio supply office. He will probably die.

TOM ROCHE offers to contribute $100, toward buying land for the erection of the K. C. Machine Shops. This is a first-class offer for a young man; now let the older and wealthier ones contribute in proportion, and we'll have the shops and a city.

A LINCOLN county preacher sang out for sinners and those who were weary-laden, and a brawny young man answered the call by knocking the minister down and jumping on him. The preacher is in bed, and the young man is in the lunatic asylum.

GEO. NIPPET, formerly of this city, is doing a nice little business in Millersburg. He is now ordering oysters by the bulk and in cases direct from Baltimore, and is building up a nice trade also on confections and fancy goods. George is clever, popular and deserving.

DR. SMITH says that he is going to quit drawing his pocket case of medicines from his hip pocket, for fear that some of his patients will shoot him under the impression that he's trying to get the drop on them. A wag at our elbow says, to take the mildest view of it, it is worse than drawing a "pop."

WE are sorry to say it, but it is too true—Our old friend, Col. Craddock, is getting ready, to die; that is, he's getting honest. He published nearly two columns of our news Wednesday and gave us no credit, but on Saturday he gave us credit for seven lines. Verily, death's Arctic chilliness must be creeping over him.

JESS HUGHES, who died of small-pox out at Fishback's bridge last week, it is said, killed a man in Cincinnati with a billiard cue, and fled to Covington and took refuge in a small-pox tenement house to escape arrest. During his illness, the sheriff of Nicholas received a warrant for his arrest, but then he couldn't serve it at a distance, but his old uncle grimaced death acted deputy and slapped it on him just as he was able to creep out.

LAST WEEK at a revival at a Northern Methodist church on the line between Nicholas and Harrison counties, the Rev. Elbright in his sermon, made some allusions to the late election and the parties who participated in it, in such terms as to arouse the indignation of a man named Wagoner, who arose and walked up to the pulpit and snatched a pistol at Elbright's breast twice. A brother Methodist promptly drew his pop and snapped it at Wagoner. The result was, that the meeting closed without the doxology.

New York Jewelry Co.

The assignee of the above company has arrived here and opened out an auction of $10,000 worth of gold and silver watches, clocks, and all kinds of solid and silver plated ware. We have made a careful examination of their immense stock, and without hesitation, pronounce it a very large and elegant one. Auction sales commenced last night, and will be continued day and night during this week only. All goods sold are subject to return if they are not strictly as warranted. Certainly a reasonable public could not ask fairer terms than these. We predict the sales will be largely attended, and the utmost satisfaction given.

SOCIETY SCINTILLATIONS.

"An actress for revenue only," is what they now say of Mrs. Langtry.

Billy Goodloe and John Moore have gone to Bath county, on a week's hunt.

James Sturges who plays the king in the Mascotte is a whole show himself. Don't fail to see him.

Miss Lizzie Rochelle with the Oates opera troupe is a young American girl of the Langtry type of beauty.

Wallace Gruelle says: Her wedding-day is woman's happiest day, but her proudest one is her first son day.

Ed. Pearce is to be captain, and A. A. Wadsworth lieutenant, of a new military company now being formed in Maysville.

Two boys got legs broken at Cynthiana last week by wagons running over them. One of them was trying to steal an ear of corn.

Edward Bageard, a famous French opera singer is now with the Oates opera company, and will appear in Paris next Friday evening.

Rheumatism, disordered blood, general debility, and many chronic diseases pronounced incurable, are often cured by Brown's Iron Bitters.

George W. Ranck, of Lexington, will read "The Bivouac of the Dead" at the Pringle celebration in Mt. Sterling on the 18th of December.

David Lyman, of this city, although a Doctor of Pharmacy, would like to have charge of a Parrish, and has been over in Woodford to see about it.

A Vermont debating society will tackle the question: "Which is the most fun—to see a man try to thread a needle or a woman try to drive a nail?"

Remember our corn show Court-day.—[True Kentuckian.

Yes, and come over and attend our bunion show too, if you like.

A St. Louis man has had sixteen different attacks of delirium tremens, and has got so used to seeing snakes that he's really lonesome when none are in sight.

Overworked men and women, persons of sedentary habits, and others whose system needs rectification, nerves toned and muscles strengthened, should use Brown's Iron Bitters.

Four of the handsomest and finest executed oil paintings probably ever gotten up by any Kentucky artist are now on exhibition in the windows of W. H. Ingels & Co. They are the work of Mrs. Hattie Hill.

Twenty-six years ago, when James Buchanan was elected President Mrs. Egle, of Harrisburg, put a bottle of wine aside in her cellar and said it should not be opened until Pennsylvania had elected a Democratic Governor. Last Sunday the bottle was opened and drank with much enthusiasm.

The marriage of the Hon. Cassius Clay, Jr., a widower and one of our wealthiest and most prominent young farmers, to Miss Pattie F. Lyman, of this county, will take place to-morrow at the residence of Col. Holloway, in Lexington. Ceremony by Eld. Jno. W. Sweeney, of this city. The groom is the son of the late Brutus J. Clay, of this county, and the bride is a sister of Dr. David Lyman, our newly adopted druggist, from Madison county.

THE Louisville Democrat sells a year's subscription and twelve standard books bound in manilla. For $3, post-paid to all subscribers.

FRIDAY and Saturday, a regiment of Bourbon stalwarts shook hands with the News and bade it God speed, in consequence of its bold stand for justice and the right.

ONE of our christian wags says Paris is no longer playing a match game against Richmond, but Knoxville is the point she wants to beat in the killing business.

The Trader, Turfman, Farmer and Sportsman.

Hogs are selling here at from $6.50 to $6.85 per hundred. The latter price for home consumption.

Lewis Muir has been elected editor of the American Short-horn Record, at $3,000 salary per annum.

Charlie Bedford writes back from Florida, that himself and a friend caught 300 pounds of fish with hook and line in one night.

During the first six months of the present year there were shipped from the Lexington stock-yards, 2,500 horses and mules.

"Little Sorrel," the horse upon which "Stonewall" Jackson sat when he received his mortal wound, is now twenty-six years old, and is kindly cared for by Dr. Morrison, Jackson's father-in-law, in Lincoln, N. C.

Fifteen hogheads of new tobacco sold last week in Cincinnati, at an average of $7.23. The top figures being $13.75 for the best bright leaves. The finest collection of samples ever exhibited in Cincinnati, were from Scott county, representing 600 acres of tobacco.

MILLERSBURG.

Two civilized book agents from the state of Maine, are selling the ruins of Pompeii, here.

Miss Mollie Knight is writing a novel entitled "A Maiden's Loneliness, or, How Far it is to Winchester."

Harlan Vimont has two with romantic names of "Cleovius," and "Bito." It is predicted that the latter one will bite, Oh!

Emile Vimont writes back from Jellico Mountain, Tenn., that John Costello and himself killed a large deer a few days ago.

John Bedford and Fred Peckover have rented Dr. Smith's new room over the "Delmonica," and will furnish it as a boudoir, in royal style.

Collier & Sharp are receiving lots of corn, and are shelling it by steam, at rates of 1,200 bushels per day. They are now paying $2 per barrel.

Miss Fannie Clarke has returned from College at Lexington, to stay at home. Mrs. Tarrant's trouble with the sheriff has been bridged over until February.

C. J. Roden, who has charge of confections for Jim Rogers, has moved over to Dr. Smith's new room on "Banana Row," and has named the new house the "Delmonica." It is a handsome little institution.

Geo. Nippet will be prepared to furnish extra fancy Baltimore oysters in the bulk, can or half can, and will make it to the advantage of all who desire extra spreads on Thanksgiving day. His oysters will be of the best ever shipped West, and will also have lots of other fancy goods fresh for that occasion.

The regular hoodlums have stolen Roden's Indian cigar sign several times lately, and hung it in the public square, and also up in front of the Female College, besides threw it in the public square, and also up in front of the Female College, besides threw it in the creek once. It is now gone for good, and Roden mourns for his dear little Pocahontas.

S. P. Hopkins, a traveling agent for the enlargement of pictures, from Nicholas county, went to sleep in a buggy while drunk in the Johnson House livery stable, and got robbed in daytime of $350 in money and a check on the Exchange Bank of Sharpsburg, of $200. He had Charlie Wily, a white man arrested on suspicion, but there was no proof found against him. When Hopkins awoke and found he was robbed, he rushed to the post-office and said very excitedly, "loan me a 'volver, and I'll git a passel of 'em!"

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

To all whom it may concern:—

Know ye, that owing to the manifest increase of disorder and violence within the limits of our goodly city, it is deemed right and proper that your attention be called to certain ordinances of the Mayor and Common Council, viz:

1st. That any person keeping a confectionery or drinking saloon shall be required to keep their houses closed on the Sabbath, under a penalty of five dollars.

2d. That the selling of ale, beer, whiskey and other liquors in this city on Sundays be and the same is hereby prohibited, and any one violating this ordinance shall be fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than fifty for each offense, one half of which amount shall be paid to the informer.

3d. The keeping of business houses open on Sunday for the purpose of selling goods, wares and merchandise being immoral and annoying to the citizens, it is ordered that all such houses shall be closed on that day, except for the sale of medicine and other things required from necessity or humanity, and any person otherwise violating this ordinance shall be fined not more than fifty dollars for each offense.

Therefore, as Mayor of the City of Paris, I have caused this my Proclamation to be issued as a warning to all persons not to violate any of the above ordinances, for in the event of a persistent disregard of the ordinances of the Mayor and Common Council, as above set forth, I shall enforce the law against all such offenders, and if the offense with which they may be charged shall be clearly proven, will inflict upon them the penalty as provided by law. The Marshals will give special attention to violation of these ordinances.

A. J. LOVELY,
Mayor of the City of Paris.
NOVEMBER 22D, 1882.

Imported Buckden, property of Wm. Cottrill, of Alabama, died at Bruce's stable in Danville last week. The owner had refused $12,000 for him.
